

PERSHING BIDS ARMY FAREWELL ON DEFENSE DAY

Commander-In-Chief Retires On Sixty-fourth Birthday

"Black Jack's" Retirement Will be Without Ceremony.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The army is saying "good bye" today to General John Pershing.

At noon tomorrow, after forty-two consecutive years of service, General Pershing will retire from the army and formally relinquish his post as chief of staff.

His retirement comes, not of his own volition, but because of the unchanging military rule which requires all members of the army automatically at the age of 64. General Pershing will observe his 64th birthday tomorrow.

There will be no formal ceremonies to mark General Pershing's retirement from the army and from the office he has held since August 31, 1920. This is in accordance with military custom and with the personal desires of the general who wishes to avoid all unnecessary formalities.

General Pershing will be succeeded by Major General John L. Hines, who has been deputy chief of staff for several years.

Pershing's last full day as chief of staff was a busy one. He was at his office in the war department at 9:30 a. m. to receive all officers of the military organization in the Washington area who are not on regular duty at the war department. The reception gave Pershing an opportunity to thank these officers for their co-operation.

At 11:30 o'clock, he summoned before him the chiefs of all the branches and bureaus of the war department to discuss with them and receive their final reports on the work they have done in connection with plans for Defense Day.

His own participation in Defense Day ceremonies took part this afternoon when, in company with Secretary of War Weeks, reviewing the Defense Day parade in the national capital, and made a brief address from the reviewing stand.

Tonight General Pershing will make his farewell address as chief of staff to the army and the people of the United States. He will speak over the radio from the war department.

Probably the only ceremonial touch incident to General Pershing's retirement will come at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning when he will receive the officers of the general staff and the heads of all the bureaus of the war department.

Each group will be presented by the chief of its division and full dress uniforms with ribbons will be worn. It is probable also that Secretary Weeks will take formal leave of General Pershing during the forenoon tomorrow.

General Pershing joined the army as a cadet at the military academy at West Point on July 1, 1882, and was commissioned second lieutenant on July 1, 1886. He joined his regiment, the sixth cavalry, at Fort Bayard, New Mexico, on Sept. 30, 1886. Since that time he has been continuously in the military service.

Most of his time, until the Spanish American war in 1898, General Pershing spent with the army in western posts. He was in the campaign against the Apache Indians in 1886-1887 and in the field against the Sioux Indians in South Dakota in 1890. In 1898 he fought in the Philippine campaign in Cuba and in 1899 in the Philippines, remaining in those islands most of the time until 1903, holding various important military commands.

After 1903, he held various military posts, including that of military attaché to the embassy at Tokio and spent some time in Europe as an observer. He came most prominently before the public when he led the expeditionary forces into Mexico in 1916 and achieved world wide fame when he became commander of the American expeditionary forces in France in May, 1917. He was appointed general of the armies, the highest military rank in the United States on Sept. 3, 1919.

Numbers 9305 and 9306 Begin Terms After Stalking Death, Cheated In Courtroom Furnishes Anti-Climax

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 12.—The strident ringing of a brazen gong rang through "Court solitary" at six a. m. today. It was a summons to convicts 9305 and 9306—Richard A. Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr., slayers of Bobby Franks—that the shackles had begun to bind. Cool mornings these, but not so cool ever in the outside world—at least not as clammy cold as stone walls on which the sun never shines. It will be six o'clock from now on, at least on week day mornings. No more leisurely awakenings to prepare for a laughing journey to court where one can smile at friends and smirk at the curious.

Today was not an unusual day at the prison. Even here the message of a powerful government had penetrated. It is Defense Day, but its meaning is somewhat different to the 2,200 convicts. There is held what Warden John T. Whitman refers to as "patriotic exercises" that is the limiting degree to which the law allows these men whose citizenship has been taken from them, to participate.

Loeb and Leopold, known now respectively as 9305 and 9306, did not breakfast in the main dining hall. Following the usual custom, they were fed in the cells by fellow convicts who stared curiously at the newcomers in their prison clothes.

The pair were alert and eager to take their first steps through the routine that starts them on their program for the years that remain to them. It appeared that the Defense Day program, however, would interfere with their desires.

They were far from being the two badly frightened youths who were half carried and half walked the fifty foot space in the administration building that represented to them the trap door, open and ready to shut for them the blue sky of freedom.

The last thrill before the prison walls of Joliet closed about them perhaps forever, probably the only thrill that Loeb and Leopold experienced since the killing of little Bobby Franks was realized last night by the youthful slayers when their own lives were almost snuffed out in the mad race for the penitentiary.

Only quick work on the part of newspapermen and deputy sheriffs accompanying the murderers, and the keen eye of an engineer saved the two "supermen" and their guards, including Captain Wesley Westbrook, from being ground to death under the wheels of a speeding train.

The accident, which almost cost the lives of five persons besides the slayers, occurred just west of Argo. Darkness had completely hit the road ahead. On through the night sped seven cars.

Forty, forty five and fifty miles an hour, they dashed over the ribbon-like stretch of cement before them. To the right were car tracks—the electric line to Joliet. Some distance down the track an express train was beating down the rails at breakneck speed.

The deafening roar of the motor made all still without. Suddenly the curtains came—the one with the slayers veered, slipped from the cement, left the rails and landed dead in the center of the track.

Down the track a thousand feet was the blinding headlight of a train coming closer at every second. Newspapermen and deputy sheriffs ran down the road. It had to be stop.

Arms and hats were waved frantically; searchlights were turned down the track and a shot was fired. There was a grinding of steel on steel. Quick as a flash it was over. Less than fifty feet from the stalled car bearing the slayers the train had come to a stop. It was the last thrill for the youths who had murdered in the spirit of adventure.

"My God," Leopold gulped. "We're driving too fast."

Babe, the unemotional, soon caught himself. His fear turned to levity. "What's the hurry; we've got at least fifty years."

The two slayers sat in the rear seat of the second car, puffing cigarettes, motionless. Between them sat Hans Thompson, assistant warden of the county jail. Across his lap was a chain one end of which was attached to Leopold's wrist, the other to Loeb's. Babe looked up. "Tough towns, Summit and Argo," he noted as they passed through. "If there's going to be trouble anywhere, we ought to get it here," and a faint smile broke his stolid expressionless face.

The words gave Dick courage. "Gee! I remember this country," and, stroking his chin, as though it were a beard, he looked into the future and made a prediction: "Now fifty years ago," he began, with a farmer-like drawl, "I went through this town."

Was he foreseeing his release from prison already? Then came the last lap. The moon had come out and its silver light left a blue tinge on the black of night. The great walls of the penitentiary loomed up.

"There they are," Leopold had spoken his last words before going within them. Loeb sat there in silence. There they were—those great massive barricades, Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr., passed within those walls "for the rest of their natural lives and ninety nine years."

State's Attorney Crowe finished his fight to make certain that Leopold and Loeb spend the rest of their lives in the penitentiary. Crowe prepared a complete review of the case sent with the prisoners to the prison at Joliet. He calls it a "statement of fact" and hopes that it will form a record so secure that no pardon or parole board at any time in the future will release the young slayers from the penitentiary. In addition, Crowe forwarded all of the "people's exhibits," all the evidence he presented during the murder hearing before Chief Justice John Caverly.

"We want to make the record clear and clean," the state's attorney said, "so that no efforts of the defense will succeed in setting these murderers free. The state's attorney presented an airtight case that should have resulted in hangings. The court decided otherwise, and now the responsibility lies in other hands than in mine. Since they can not be hanged, I trust they shall never be freed from prison."

Crowe refused to allow Sheriff Peter Hoffman to take the prisoners to Joliet immediately after sentence was pronounced, insisting that the documents be sent with them.

Forty men claim a share in the $5,000 reward offered for the capture and conviction of the slayers of Robert Franks. Chief of Police Collins, who offered a reward of $1,000, while Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, offered $5,000, together with Mr. Franks and Mayor Dever, it is understood, will appoint a committee to distribute the rewards.

The chief praised the police department in connection with the case, remarking: "It will be remembered that the officers had nothing to serve as a definite clue, save Leopold's glasses. I am proud of my men."

Chilean President Quits; Army Wins.

ARTURO ALESSANDRI, PRESIDENT OF CHILE.

A group of young army officers at Santiago forced Arturo Alessandri, President of Chile, to resign his Cabinet, according to their desires, but declined to accept when he also tendered his resignation. It was announced, however, he will not be permitted to attend official functions generally demanding the President's presence.

SIXTY KILLED IN TOKIO TRAGEDIES AND FIFTY INJURED

Tokio, Sept. 12.—Eleven persons were killed and fifty injured today when an express train from Shinjuku struck a landslide caused by rains near Hiroshima. The train overturned and several cars collapsed.

Tokio, Sept. 12.—More than 50 sea men were drowned early today as a result of the collision and sinking of two torpedo boats off Yokosuka.

The crews of the two boats, which were attached to the battleship Nagato, numbered 115. Sixty five survivors were picked up by other vessels of the fleet, which were engaged in maneuvers.

Both the torpedo boats sank almost immediately after the collision.

SEVEN PERISH AS FARM HOME BURNS

Dickinson, Ind., Sept. 12.—Fire claimed a toll of seven lives here. The six daughters of Louis Spilchal and Bergin Roller, 69, father of Mrs. Spilchal, were burned to death when fire destroyed their farm home, 16 miles southwest of here. Mr. and Mrs. Spilchal escaped with an infant daughter. The flames started from a defective flue. The six girls burned ranged in age from 3 to 14 years. They were sleeping in another room of the home. After the father got his wife and baby out he was unable to reach the other children because of a wall of fire.

To Fight Fire in Mine. Belleair, O., Sept. 12.—The Ohio mine rescue car "Black Diamond" arrived here from Columbus to fight the fire raging in Lincoln mine, owned by the Lorain Coal and Dock company of Columbus. The flames have gained headway since breaking out Aug. 22, when the mine was sealed in hope of smothering the blaze.

LA FOLLETTE ENDORSED BY LABOR GROUP

Springfield Meeting Takes Action After Discussion

Three Proposals Greeted Body at Friday Session

Springfield, O., Sept. 12.—The Ohio Federation of Labor today endorsed the candidacies of United States Senator La Follette for president of the United States and United States Senator Wheeler for vice president. The formal action was taken here shortly before noon today through a viva voce vote of the delegates attending the federation's annual convention.

Delegates this morning faced opposing proposals—two indorsing La Follette and Wheeler and one registering re-affirmation of the federation's past policy of refusing to indorse political party candidates.

The resolution urging modification of the Volstead act so as to permit manufacture and sale of light wines and beer was adopted late Thursday. The delegates disposed of the proposal that the convention indorse the campaign for a minimum wage law when they adopted a resolution recommending appointment of a commission, including representatives of union labor and of the public, to make a survey of the conditions existing among Ohio's women workers.

Attacks upon President Coolidge and John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, characterized the debate that immediately followed the calling up late Thursday of the proposed resolutions endorsing La Follette and Wheeler.

THIRTY-FIVE INJURED AS NEW YORK CARS COLLIDE

New York, Sept. 12.—Thirty five men and women were injured—two perhaps fatally, in a collision of two surface cars at 42nd Street and Ninth Avenue, near the heart of the gay white way—today.

Many of the injured were trampled on in the rush of passengers to escape as the cars crashed. Jammed brakes were blamed for the accident.

GREATEST PEACE TIME MILITARY DISPLAY IN HISTORY TAKES PLACE

Washington, Sept. 12.—The greatest peace time military display in the history of the United States took place today as the nation made an inventory of its manpower. The war department, after months of planning and preparation presented to the people the new citizen army which has been built up under the scheme of national defense authorized by congress four years ago.

From one end of the country to another and wherever Americans happened to be, throughout the world there was an almost unanimous effort to make the first defense test a success. Widespread co-operation of communities led by civic and patriotic organizations was indicated in reports to the war department.

All regular army units participated in the defense mobilization as a matter of course, but the turnout that was the most pleasing to government officials was that of hundreds of private citizens, who in their own home towns took part in the Defense Day activities and indicated to what extent the nations armed forces could be augmented in an emergency.

Although the defense test was made in accordance with the national defense act of 1920 the plan itself had its inception in the day of the revolution and more particularly in the militia act of 1792, which declared that "all able bodied men owed military service to the republic and provided ways and means of enrollment."

The mobilization of men power was purely voluntary, although in some communities "orders" were issued by local officials in carrying out the plan. In cities where troops of the regular army are stationed, local authorities co-operated with the war department, in going through the motions of building up a comprehensive military force with the regulars as a skeleton organization.

For the most part the ceremonies, today took form of patriotic demonstrations. Each city was allowed to work out the details of its own program, the only attempts at national supervision being along broadest lines.

For this reason the programs varied greatly. In Washington the day's ceremonies, which were featured by parade of 30,000 men, including units of the regular army, the national guard and the organized reserve, followed by members of the patriotic organization.

The parade was to start at 1:30 p. m. and was to be reviewed in the Ellipse Back of the White House by President Coolidge, Secretary of War Weeks, General John J. Pershing, the retiring chief of staff and other governmental officials.

In government circles here the defense test was discussed as the nation's final accounting to the nation. For the past four years, since he became chief of staff, Pershing has worked incessantly to organize the nation's defense forces in accordance with congressional authorization.

The mobilization today was the first opportunity afforded the country as a whole to see what Pershing has accomplished.

ANTIOCH SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY WITH SIXTY REGISTERED

(By Wardle Press Service)
Yellow Springs, O., Sept. 12.—The Antioch School, controlled by Antioch College, will begin work Monday morning with a registration of about sixty pupils, including twenty in the Academy, eight in the Junior High School, and thirty in the Elementary school and Kindergarten. The new director of the institution is Edwin F. Zavitz, who comes here from Moraine Park School in Dayton, where he did considerable work under Frank D. Slutz. He has already shown himself to be an enthusiastic worker and a capable leader in organizing the work for the coming year.

General science work has been established throughout the entire school and valuable results are expected. This work is under the direction of Mrs. Irving Cannon, a graduate of Barnard College, who will also assist Mrs. Eudell D. Everdell in her supervision of the Junior High school.

Miss Clara H. Hirst, who is to have charge of the musical department, plans to test out some new ideas along this line, from which fine results are expected. The instruction in French will be continued as last year by Miss Dorothy Parkhurst, of the college teaching staff.

It is hoped that the large number of beginners in the kindergarten may be taken through the entire school course into the college, thus giving them a complete course which is definitely planned to fit together as a whole. Mrs. Eleanor Kingsbury, of Xenia, is assisting in the Primary school and is bringing six Xenia children with her. Several others are watching this experiment of having small children commute daily from a distance, and Mrs. Kingsbury has hopes of increasing this number in the near future. Miss Esther Corry, who received her diploma from Antioch College last June, will have charge of the high school English. She has arranged an attractive library and has plans for an interesting year's work for the students.

Miss Leah Houck, an Antioch student who spent the summer at Columbia Teacher's College, is assisting Miss Anna F. Gifford supervisor of the Elementary school, Springfield, Xenia, and Dayton teachers and friends of the school are invited to visit the institution at all times.

NORMAL SCHOOL AT CEDARVILLE SHOWS LARGE ENROLLMENT

The Greene County Normal School, Cedarville, opened Wednesday with an increased enrollment over last year. A number of prospective teachers to the entrance examination Friday, who will possibly enter the school.

The school opened under the direction of Miss Susanne Koehler, of Columbus, who directed the school last year. The school is maintained almost entirely by the state and supervised jointly by County Superintendent H. C. Aultman and the State Director of Teachers' Training.

The school is able to supply the needs of Greene County schools each year and is conducted mainly for this purpose. The teachers not taken care of by this county locate elsewhere.

The school is located in the new science hall at Cedarville.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

BERNARR MACFADDEN

The delicate structure of an infant's brain is, in itself, an invitation to irritating conditions. More plastic than any modeling clay, it takes its impression from its surroundings, and from every influence that acts upon it.

Therefore extreme care must be taken to make sure that babies are not disturbed in their rest, and that no habit is established which might interfere with their getting the proper amount of rest.

Infants should be let alone as much as possible. They require peaceful, quiet surroundings. If they are prone to nervousness, they should see very few people, and should be played with little or not at all. They should never be quieted with soothing syrups, or given so-called "pacifiers" to play with.

Except for a very brief period of exercise daily, or for a while at first, every second day, babies under six months should never be played with. Too much attention makes them nervous and irritable, gives them indigestion, and tends to make them sleep badly at night.

All these effects, in turn inevitably bring about a state of "backwardness," which may develop into a permanent condition that will handicap a child through its whole life.

Nothing in the world is more important than sound, healthy nerves, and nothing is easier to develop, if only one uses a little common sense.

One of the most frequent and troublesome of the nervous ailments of children is chorea (St. Vitus' Dance). This is a fairly common condition in that it develops slowly and, in some cases, progresses to a point where the patient is absolutely incapacitated from taking care of himself. The most prominent symptom is irregular spasmodic twitching of the muscles of some part of the body. At times some of the movements continue during rest, but usually not. Children are sometimes affected as early as five years of age, but not often younger than this. Usually there is also an undernourished appearance. There is also, usually, a poor appetite and constipation, with irritable temper.

ENTERPRISES FOR ANTIOCH OPENING FOR FALL SESSION

(By Wardle Press Service)

Yellow Springs, O., Sept. 12.—Several changes have been noticed by students at Antioch College and more are in store for them, according to reports from those in charge in various fields.

The new Horace Mann Memorial Library is nearly completed and is already in use. A large number of the books are in confusion due to the moving, but care has been taken to keep the reserve books, (which are in greatest demand) always in such order that they could be called into use. This has brought about a transfer of all the library facilities with its several thousands of books and periodicals with no interruption to the use by the students of any books necessary in their study. Novels, and little used volumes have taken the brunt of the disturbance. Classes are already being held in the upper rooms of the building, although they are accessible only by means of the fire escape at the rear of the structure.

The Antioch Bookstore, operated last year by John L. Radcliff, Pierce, ton, Ind., and Ralph B. Stump, Clinton, Iowa, is this year under the management of Rolf J. Schultz, Madison, S. D., and Glen D. Sheets, Dayton. The Bookstore was burned out when the Horace Mann house was destroyed by fire last New Year's night and was crowded into a small room last spring. It has now found room to spread out again and occupy two rooms in the basement of the main building.

The Antioch Tea Room, or "Anchorage" as it is often called, was also a sufferer for space, due to the fire, and has been forced into a small house built as a residence for four people. This year the kitchen has been enlarged and the whole building fixed over. The Anchorage opens Sunday morning after being closed for two weeks. Daniel J. Davitt, Westmeath, Ireland, will have charge.

The Rialto theater, operated in the Yellow Springs Opera House, by Gorman E. Mattison, Worcester, Mass., has been thoroughly renovated and to some extent redecorated, and will have its formal opening for the 1924-25 season Saturday night, featuring Norma Talmadge in "Ashes of Vengeance."

Miss Marjorie Flynn and Mr. Henry Flynn, accompanied by Edward and Betty Flynn are expected home Sunday by motor from Maine, where they have been spending several weeks.

Mrs. Flynn will remain in Maine for a further stay.

Mrs. George C. Smith of Alpha is severely ill, threatened with pneumonia.

BORING SELLS OUT WILMINGTON STORE

W. E. Boring, Wilmington, who formerly conducted a book store in this city, and has since been in the grocery business in Wilmington, has again made a change.

Mr. Boring has announced the sale of his grocery store to L. D. Minnick, formerly of Clarksville, who was engaged in the same business there before moving to Wilmington a few months ago. Mr. Minnick assumed immediate charge of the store.

Mr. Boring owned the book store on South Detroit Street, now operated by Geo. Gey, for seven years before moving to Wilmington, and purchasing the store then known as the Miller grocery.

He has not decided where he will locate, but has been investigating a book store proposition in Middletown.

COLLEGE STUDENTS HONORED AT PARTIES

A group of parties honoring the young people of the city who are returning to college and entering their first year have been planned for the week.

Miss Josephine Wolf entertained a group of eighteen guests at her home on North King Street, Friday afternoon for tea. Her houseguest, Miss Helen Exley, of New Philadelphia, O., and Miss Sarah Hoover of Dayton, the guest of Miss Margaret Prugh, were among the out-of-town guests.

Sixteen couples will be entertained by the Misses Little at their home on North King Street, Friday evening, at a dancing party.

Mrs. Walter R. Harner has invited twelve young people as her guests at luncheon Saturday.

Miss Margaret Prugh entertained guests for three tables of bridge at her home Wednesday afternoon, complimenting her houseguest Miss Hoover.

DINNER-DANCE AT COUNTRY CLUB THURSDAY
About ninety guests attended the dinner-dance at the Xenia Country Club, Thursday evening, including several out-of-town guests.

A delicious menu was served in the club dining room and dancing was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening. The Harmony Kings furnished the evening's music.

The committee in charge of the affair, the main club function for September, was composed of Mr. D. W. Cherry, chairman, Mrs. Louis Allison, Mrs. A. H. Dyer, Miss Margaret Steele, Mrs. Walter Currie, Mr. J. E. Kelly, Mrs. R. D. Adair, Mrs. George Kelly, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Leon Spahr.

INTERESTING MARRIAGE TO TAKE PLACE SOON
Miss Hilda May Haigh, librarian at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, and Mr. Eugene Alexander LaViolette, of Mont Carlo, France, a civil engineer, secured a marriage license in Probate Court Wednesday.

The bride-to-be gave her birthplace as Liverpool, England. Her home is in Boston, Mass. Mr. LaViolette came to Yellow Springs recently to spend four weeks.

The Rev. C. H. White of Yellow Springs, was named as the officiating minister.

ADAMS COUNTY REUNION PLANNED

Former Adams County residents living in Xenia and vicinity are cordially invited to attend the Adams County reunion to be held at the Dayton Fairgrounds Sunday, September 21. A basket dinner, athletics, vocal and instrumental music and talks by prominent former Adams County residents is a part of the entertainment that will be provided for the multitude. More than a thousand former Adams County people attended the reunion last year.

FIRST M. E. W. F. M. S.

DINNER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laurens and daughter, Freda of the Peterson Road entertained the following guests at dinner, Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonnell and son, Mark; Mrs. Otilie Danzeisen and daughter, Della and Mr. Floyd Lamman all of Dayton.

H. S. P. T. A.

A business meeting will be held by the Central High School Parent-Teacher Association, at the school, Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

M'GERVEY CLASS

Mrs. Rolla LaMar will entertain the members of the McGervey Class of Trinity M. E. Church at her home on South Detroit Street, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The election of officers will be held.

ASSOCIATION TO ENTERTAIN FOR TEACHERS

The Spring Valley Parent-Teacher Association will give a reception for the teachers in the Junior Order Hall September 16, at 7:30 o'clock. Full attendance is expected by P. T. A. members.

HOME GUARD FROLIC

The Home Guards of Trinity M. E. Church will hold a wieners roast in Eavey's woods Friday afternoon. The young people will meet at the church at 2 o'clock. Each child is to bring his own buns, Wieners and marshmallows.

The Misses Libby Lou Wright, Margaret Anderson and Katherine Gilchrist of Lebanon, have been the houseguests of Miss Florence Chew, of East Market Street, coming to attend the Country Club dinner-dance.

Miss Josephine Wolf and her houseguest and college room-mate, Miss Helen Exley, of New Philadelphia, O., will leave Sunday for Oxford, Ohio, where they will re-enter Miami University.

Mrs. J. H. Benbow, of North Galway Street, has been spending a week with relatives in Muncie Ind.

Mr. Madison Hutchison of Lebanon, attended the Xenia Country Club dinner-dance, Thursday. He has been the guest of Mr. Arthur Currie.

MORE THAN 5,000 CHILDREN ENROLL IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

Greene County public schools in general opened last Monday with an approximate enrollment of more than 5,000 according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent. Of this number more than 800 were in high school of the county and more than 200 in the senior classes.

Three new superintendents entered their work with the opening of school. They are H. E. Zuber, of Osborn, who succeeded D. S. Lynn; Charles E. Oxley, at Cedarville, who succeeded L. D. Parker and Arnold Drewes, at Spring Valley, succeeding F. E. McKelvie.

Some of the objectives for the year in school circles, according to Mr. Aultman, are better methods of achievement in reading, arithmetic and English. Conditional promotion will be tried out in general in all the schools of the county this year, literary meetings will be held and all athletics supervised.

COURT NEWS

Sues To Recover Property
James I. Patterson and J. Harvey Lackey have filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Ancil Wright and Harry P. Thomas, doing business as the Cedarville Lumber Company, a partnership, alleging the defendants wrongfully took possession of the two wool sacks valued at $155.42 previously confiscated from the plaintiffs by two colored men and sold to defendants. The plaintiffs claim prior ownership to the wool sacks and allege the defendants have refused to pay the plaintiffs a reasonable amount for the wool. The plaintiffs ask the court for the recovery of an amount equal in value to the wool. Miller and Finney are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Bring Suit On Note
The American Loan and Realty Company has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against George V. Brown and Clara Brown for $1,140 alleged due from the defendant on a certain cognovit note. J. K. Williamson is attorney for the plaintiff.

Church Seeks To Borrow
The First United Presbyterian Church has petitioned in Common Pleas Court for the right to incumber real estate by mortgage. The church in its petition, asks for right to borrow $5,000 for improvement purposes. J. A. Finney represents the church.

Wants To Sell
George F. Ferguson, executor of the estate of George Brandt, deceased, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Anna Hanstedt, Sadie McCallister, Charles Coy and May Coy, asking the court to grant him authorization to sell certain real estate, of which the defendants are rightful legatees, in order to pay debts, legacies and costs of administration.

The plaintiff claims that the real estate of the deceased was appraised at $17,475, and the personal property at $8,107.61. Debts amount to $4,153.64, legacies, $5,200, and charges of administration, $2,580. The plaintiff claims that the personal property of the deceased is not sufficient to pay debts, legacies and costs of administration.

The plaintiff contends that the defendants are rightful legatees of the estate and are entitled to the proceeds of the sale of the the payment of the debts and costs of administration.

Partition Allowed
In the case of Frank McDorman against Bessie May Gaines, and others in Common Pleas Court, the court found that Laura Belle McDorman, widow of James A. McDorman, deceased, is entitled to dower, and that the plaintiff has legal right to one fourth part of the premises of the deceased and can hold it in severalty, and that the defendants Bessie May Gaines, Carl McDorman and Lester McDorman, are tenants with the plaintiff with each a legal right to one fourth part of the premises. The court adjudged that Laura Belle McDorman be endowed with one-third part of the premises and ordered that dower and severalty be set off.

Administrators Named
S. H. Pierce has been appointed administrator of the estate of Ann Jane Vianey, deceased, in Probate Court, and has filed bond of $1,200 which was approved by the court.

Guardian Appointed
Estella M. Dice has been appointed guardian of the persons and estates of Mildred E. Dice and Robert H. Dice, aged 18 and 12, in Probate Court and has filed bond of $1,000 which was approved by the court.

NAZARENE CHURCH NAMES NEW PASTOR

The board of the Church of the Nazarene has given the Rev. W. R. Gilley of Olivet, Ill., a unanimous nomination to the pastorate of the church which he has accepted.

Sunday morning the congregation will vote on the action of the board.

The Rev. Mr. Gilley has had considerable experience in pastoral work and for the past four years has been widely engaged in evangelistic work in the Church of the Nazarene. His former pastorates were at Marion, O., and Lansing, Mich., the latter of which is one of the strongest churches of the denomination in the Middle West.

The Rev. Mr. Gilley will succeed the Rev. Frank Watkins, who resigned the local pastorate to accept a call to Marion.

MAINE VICTORY PROVES ISSUE IS—COOLIDGE

Robert Barry in Philadelphia Public Ledger:

From the results of the Maine election there came to Washington a new appreciation of the solidity of the President's strength.

To those who try to learn what is going on politically and discount all the petty pretensions of the professional politicians, the Maine result means just this and nothing more: The issue is Calvin Coolidge.

They failed to consider the fact that Fernald, in Maine, equally with Caper in Kansas, and Tom, Dick and Harry elsewhere had learned a lot since they returned home in June and were perched high now on the Coolidge band wagon. They waged their campaigns on the issue of Coolidge. They talked about the President until their hearers forgot their disloyalty to him when he needed votes for his policies in the Senate.

If the Nation goes that way eight weeks from hence, Mr. Davis will find a place in political history alongside Alton B. Parker and James M. Cox. The politicians were impressed as never before with the volume of the Coolidge strength that does not gather in the street corners nor in smoky halls to hear partisan harangues, but turns up to ask for ballots.

A FLAG ALL REFORMERS MAY GAZE UPON WITH ENVY

The constant seeking for moral inspiration is a very human trait—a human failing, if you will, in an age of materialism. But the search goes on, the pity of it being that it is found so seldom, that so many well-advertised doors open only on emptiness. Of all places where it is least expected, perhaps a governmental report would take the palm. Yet thus does Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson, superintendent of the Naval Academy, begin his annual report to Secretary Wilbur:

"As stated in my reports for 1922 and 1923, the one single thing of great importance to the midshipmen is that they shall have instilled in them, perhaps unconsciously, but so thoroughly as to become an integral part of their makeup, a recognition of the Eternal Worth of Character."

Cold, official words are, but with what hidden eloquence they fall upon unexpectant minds! Character—the Eternal Worth of Character—recognized by everybody, but so infrequently mentioned, or mentioned almost apologetically. No reformer, no up-reformers and uplifters may gaze upon with envy.—Selected.

THE BACKBONE OF SUCCESS

Success lies less in the possession of some special gift than it lies in the human power to put to use the more or less common gifts of which almost every one has absolute ownership. It is a common custom to look around outside of ourselves for somebody to do things, instead of looking at ourselves for the best one able to do the job.

The doing of the actual work before and behind us is the backbone of success. When we were little we were each christened with a name, but there is within us a man as yet without a name. This nameless man has never been tried out. He may be an Edison, a Ford, a Sargent, an Alexander Graham Bell or a Joseph H. Choate.

Let us stop shilly-shallying and call out the inner reserves and earn at least simple interest on the sums somebody paid for us to give us an education, to do something more than occasional dreaming.—From the Writings of John Wanamaker.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

TO OUR GUEST

Since we have had you for a guest
You cannot go away,
Within this room which offered rest
Forever you shall stay.

And though you pack your leather case
And tuck your things inside,
Always the smile upon your face
Shall here with us abide.

Henceforth whenever we shall chat
Our talk this way shall run:
There is the chair where once you sat
When one glad day was done.

There is the room where once you slept,
And we shall find this true
That all that you have touched, has kept
Some subtle thought of you.

Yes, here forever you must dwell,
*As part of us you stay,
And though too soon you say farewell
You do not go away.

McClelland Neighborhood

Charles Weiss, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weiss of Lower Bellbrook Pike underwent a serious operation at McClelland Hospital, Sunday. His condition is favorable.

Ward Grant of Lower Bellbrook pike had an unfortunate fall on Wednesday. He caught his foot on a tree root and is now nursing a broken nose.

About twenty women were received at the home of Mrs. Moyer of Beaver Creek, on Wednesday for the McClelland W. C. T. U. meeting. Mrs. Flatter and Mrs. Custis were the speakers on the subject of Anti-Narcotics. A refreshment course of chocolate and little cakes was served by the hostess at close of the program.

Mrs. Harry DeVoe of the Valley Road is making satisfactory progress toward recovery after a critical operation at McClelland Hospital last week. The frost worked sad havoc with late planted corn and gardens, many fields of corn will be practically worthless.

Auto Overturns.

Newark, O., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Ethel Clark, 35, was drowned and Henry Klinger, 55, was injured seriously when the automobile in which they were riding from Somerset to Thornport overturned. Both resided in Thornport.

BRIDGEPORT

Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Elliott of Xenia, motored to Troy Sunday, and attended a family dinner, given in honor of Mr. A. J. Racer, who celebrated his sixty-seventh birth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McDonald and baby daughter of Dayton were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Kelter.

Martha, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crampton Lott, is improving slowly, after a serious illness of several weeks.

The schools opened Monday, and Miss Edith Connell, of Cedarville, is teaching the White Chapel school.

Mrs. Henry Weiss and children and Mrs. Turner spent Thursday in Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Farquhar and son, Allen, of Dayton, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott, Friday.

MOBOLIZATION DAY

1904-Twenty Years Ago-1924

Not in the history of Xenia have the walls of the council chamber echoed to a discussion of more intense interest than on Tuesday night when a joint meeting of the city council, the Board of Public Service, and the Board of Public Safety was held. The theme was the alleged dereliction of duty by the officers of the city in the enforcement of the Beal law.

The fine dancing pavilion at the Neff grounds at Yellow Springs was totally destroyed by fire about 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night. Origin of the fire is a mystery. It was constructed last summer at a cost of $2,000, and is partly covered by $1,600 insurance.

One of the best schedules the local high school football team has arranged for years is the one now being attempted to be put through.

The vicinity of Paintersville might be a good field for the Greene County Oil and Gas Company, several strikes having been made in that locality.

The weather man sent out a warning on Wednesday morning of the coming of a cold snap throughout this section. Frost is predicted this Wednesday night in exposed places.

drain and husk. Do not blanch more than one-half pound at a time. Now let the husked nuts dry for several hours on paper toweling. To salt them, heat olive oil or any pure vegetable cooking fat to the point where it will brown a cube of bread as you count up to forty (this will be the smoking-hot stage, as in making doughnuts), then cover the bottom of a frying basket with the half-pound of husked nuts (or nuts with their skins on may be salted in this way, if preferred) and sink the basket in the hot fat, removing the basket from the fat before the nuts are quite brown enough. Their own heat, when draining, will finish the browning process. Spread them on paper toweling again (or use crumpled brown paper) dredge lightly with table salt, and when dry they are ready to eat.

I am constantly asked by my readers for directions for candying fruits and salting nuts. There is no doubt about it, these delicacies do help considerably in giving a dainty effect to a guest meal.

To Candy Fruits and Vegetables: (Especially good method for candying apples, peaches, any kind of fruit peel, and carrots.) The first step is to choose a ripe and perfect product. Wash and prepare in the usual way, cutting fruit in halves, quarters, or small sections, and cutting vegetables in narrow strips two and one-half inches long.

Drop these pieces into a sugar-and-water sirup flavored with ginger and made as follows: Candying Sirup: two cups of granulated sugar and one-half cup of water boiled until it will "spin a thread," a few roots of ginger should be added to it, but if the flavor of ginger is not liked, this may be omitted. Cook the fruit or vegetable pieces in this (putting them in after sirup spins a thread) and let cook in it till they are transparent. Then remove from sirup, drain, and dry in a slow oven. Finish drying over the

BEHIND

Every once in a while I hear of a person spoken of as being behind the times. It always sets me to thinking.

I say to myself that such a one is really behind himself. For a man was meant to travel with and be a vital part of time and events as they move forward and not to lag behind forming a part of what is gone while yet he is here.

We are none of us very worthy of our own selves.

And it isn't until we see the great things ahead and realize that we may be a very vital part of them that we drop all things that have been a part of our successes or failures in the past and forge ahead.

There are those who spend years of their time and precious reserves in regretting mistakes and blunders and in pillaging their strength.

They say that when they have out-lived these things, they will—

But NOW is when—always!

Napoleon used to say that God was on the side of the heaviest artillery. But he was mistaken, as he later learned. God is on the side of the man who is brave and who keeps walking straight ahead.

Nothing sucks and saps strength like regrets.

It isn't what you have been but what you are doing right now that the world is interested in.

Leave the former things of your life behind.

Dream, plan, anticipate—work out these dreams and plans and anticipations.

"Let the dead past bury its dead."

Attorney Slain.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 12.—Paul M. O'Day, young attorney, was instantly killed as he entered a bank building here. Four shots were fired from a shotgun. William Lester Crawford, another prominent attorney, was arrested. "He insulted my mother," was the only statement made by Crawford, according to the police.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lancie's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lancie, 1306 Jeffries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonsful daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

ENGLISH LECTURER LEAVES ANTIOCH TO START RETURN TRIP

(By Wardle Press Service)

Yellow Springs, O., Sept. 12.—John P. Fletcher, of Yorkshire, England, who has for several days been visiting Dr. Rosslyn J. Earp, director of hygiene at Antioch College, left this week for Philadelphia. Later Mr. Fletcher will be in Washington, D. C., afterward returning to the British Isles.

Mr. Fletcher was at Antioch last February and spoke to a large group of students at President Arthur E. Morgan's residence, all assembly programs being filled, making an address before the entire student body impossible. Since that time, Mr. Fletcher has been touring the west, addressing college students in the interests of world wide peace. In so doing he has had some exciting experiences. At Northwestern University, Mr. Fletcher was not allowed to speak on the campus, so he held his meeting just outside its boundaries. Reports were in the various newspapers that this meeting was broken up, but according to Dr. Earp, this report was the invention of some reporter. It is true, however, that the authorities of the university very seriously considered the expulsion of those students who attended the meeting.

EDUCATION BOARD MEMBERS TO MEET HERE SEPTEMBER 20

The annual meeting of all members of boards of education in Greene County required to be called by the County Superintendent is set for Saturday, September 20, at the Assembly room in the Court House, at 9:30 o'clock, central standard time.

"This early call" County Superintendent H. C. Aultman says, "is because of a number of conditions which have arisen in several districts of the county relating to transportation and other questions of vital interest which demand early attention and uniform acceptance and compliance with law."

J. Kenneth Williamson, county prosecuting attorney and Mrs. W. S. Gunkel, state examiner, will be at the meeting to advise the board members on the points of the law and questions arising regarding financial support of the schools.

In accordance with the seeming desire of the board members the meeting will be strictly for the discussion of business throughout the day.

D. OF P. MEETING

A meeting of members of the committee in charge of the supper for the District School, October 20, has been called for Monday night at the Red Men's Hall by Mrs. Fannie Ledbetter, chairman, of the Degree of Pocahontas Lodge.

All members of the Knights of Columbus are requested to meet promptly at 6:30 o'clock Friday night at the K. of C. Hall, to march in the Defense Day parade.

Mrs. Fred Horner of West Second Street who has been severely ill for some time, suffering from a complication of diseases, is improving.

HOME MISSIONARY TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The Home Missionary Conference of the U. P. Churches of the Xenia Presbytery will be held at the Cedarville U. P. Church, Sunday, during three sessions. The sessions will be held at 10:30 a. m., 2 and 7:30 p. m.

The speakers of the day include Dr. R. A. Hutchison, Home Missionary Secretary; Dr. J. C. Kissler, Miss Sallie Dickey Mrs. John Crawford and Mrs. O. H. Milligan, all of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Rev. A. W. Jamieson, of Xenia.

The Knoxville College quartet will furnish the music. The Xenia Presbytery includes Xenia, Springfield, Jamestown, Clifton and Cedarville. Anyone interested in home mission work is invited to the conference.

DOCTORS' DISPUTE SETTLED; TRAFFIC ORDINANCE COMING

Xenia City Commission, meeting Thursday afternoon instead of at night, as customary, passed the regular bills, and called it a meeting.

Failure of Xenia physicians to present their scheduled request to the commission asking for leniency for members of their profession from observing speed laws, brought to light the fact the dispute has been amicably settled.

City officials are said to have told physicians they do not intend for members of their profession to be stopped for speed law violations when answering a sick call. Physicians, in turn, are considering the use of a designating automobile emblem to show police their profession.

The scheduled new city traffic ordinance to have been prepared by J. A. Finney, city solicitor, has not been completed he told commissioners at the meeting. It will be presented at the next meeting, September 25.

COMPANY L WANTS RECRUITS FRIDAY

Company L, 147th Infantry, National Guard, has issued its final call for volunteers to take part in the parade Friday night.

Approximately 140 volunteers are wanted to join the company in the line of march, and will be in no way obligated to join the company for a period of time extending over the twenty-four hours.

The plan is to ascertain if the company, which now comprises about sixty men, can be recruited to its war time strength of 200 in twenty-four hours time.

Any volunteers who are willing to help make the parade a success from Company L's standpoint, volunteering to march with the company in the parade Friday evening are asked to telephone or get in touch with Captain Leroy John, at the Armory, East Main Street before time for the parade, or if unable to communicate with the company commander, to be on hand at the overhead bridge on South Detroit Street, the assembling place, in sufficient time to be assigned a place.

Mr. Norman Winde, of Waukesha Wis., is the guest of Mr. Horace Smith of North Galloway Street. The young men both attend Swathmore university and are leaving Sunday morning a week early, in order to attend football practice.

XENIA CELEBRATES NATIONAL DEFENSE TEST DAY FRIDAY

Xenia streets were gay with flags Friday, as the city began its observance of the first National Defense Test Day, when manpower will be paraded as a gesture of peace and a test of military strength in case of emergency.

Actual observance of the day is scheduled to begin with a parade of military, patriotic and civic organizations at 7 o'clock Friday night, followed by a program on the Court House lawn. Committee heads were unable to estimate Friday afternoon how many would take part in the parade although it is believed that organizations and individuals will respond generally.

The organizations and individuals parading will form at the Pennsylvania Railroad overhead bridge, South Detroit Street prepared to be assigned places and move at 7 o'clock. The parade will march north to Main and Detroit Streets, west on Main Street to Galloway Street, counter-march east on Main Street to Collier Street, north on Collier Street to Market Street in front of a reviewing stand on the Market Street side of the Court House lawn, where the parade will disband.

MODISH MITZI Aunt Sophia Finds Compensations.

By Jay V. Jay

"You look so comfortable," says Mitzi. "I've been shopping all over town for a hat and I haven't found it yet." "I've been shopping, too," says Aunt Sophia, "but I don't feel at all tired. That's because I found some things that pleased me. I'm almost resigned to being stout."

Aunt Sophia found this winter coat of brown trimmed with rock sable. Its slim smooth lines and the flatness of its trimmings are flattering and becoming. The use of the fur is most skillful and a small, brimless hat is just the sort of headgear to accompany it properly.

This is a wrap rather than a coat—at least, it does not fit with the snugness of the first coat. The effect, though, is really given by pointed cape sleeves which appear over tight fitting sleeves—so that one may have warmth and fashion at the same time.

"And a new hat, too," Aunt Sophia explains to Mitzi. "I really couldn't resist it." And why should she when it is so very becoming and has the new high crown that is going to be so fashionable this winter? The dress makes her look slimmer because of the pleated panel down the front.

STRICKEN WIFE SEES NO HARM IN BIGAMY.

MARIUS MILLER, MRS. M. A. MILLER, MRS. DELPHINE SCHULLER & BABY MILLER LOVE NEST

When Mrs. M. A. Miller became an invalid her husband, Marius A. Miller, a prosperous business man of San Rafael, Cal., employed Mrs. Delphine Schuller, a trained nurse, to care for her. Miller soon fell in love with the nurse, and told his wife. Then, with her approval, he married Mrs. Schuller without the formality of a divorce. The first Mrs. Miller cannot see what harm has been done, and believes all three could have lived happily together in the "love nest" Miller built. But the police couldn't see it that way at all, at all, and Miller is under arrest on a charge of bigamy.

ENGLI LEAST FIREMEN RECEIVE MINOR BURNS WHEN BARN IS DESTROYED

Two firemen received minor burns when fire destroyed a barn on Xenia Avenue, used by Harry Mouser, drayman, at 8 o'clock Thursday night, with loss estimated at $750.

Roy Ireland, fireman, received burns on his left arm when standing too near the flames while fighting the fire. John Haller, extra fireman, sustained minor burns on the hand during the conflagration.

Insulation worn from an electric light wire in the barn, which caused a short circuit, is believed to have started the blaze in a pile of packing used to wrap furniture in hauling. A heavy dray truck, used by Mouser in his business and a new body for the truck, were destroyed in the flames.

Mouser was away from home at the time of the fire and when neighbors sent in the alarm the blaze had gained considerable headway. Firemen laid two water lines from Lynn outside its street and Stelton Road, the nearest in the vicinity, but the barn was completely destroyed when the flames were to Dr. Earl E. Becked.

Firemen estimate the loss on the contents at $600 and on the building at $150. P. H. Flynn, North Detroit Street, owns the property, which was rented by Mouser. Another truck and Mouser's passenger car, usually kept in the barn, were out at the time of the blaze.

Firemen remained at the scene more than an hour soaking the ruins to prevent flying sparks.

FREE—50c WORTH OF JOHNSON'S VARNISH

Johnson's Floor Varnish

You know Johnson's Floor Wax—it's used by housewives everywhere. We want you to know Johnson's Floor Varnish, too. Our Varnish is just as good as our Wax. Johnson's Floor Varnish is very easy to apply and has good body. It dries dust-free in two hours and hard over night. Gives a beautiful high gloss which will not chip, check, mar, blister or scratch white. Has great elasticity—is pale in color—and absolutely water-proof. Johnson's Floor Varnish will stand all reasonable tests. Fine for tables, chairs, furniture, woodwork, trim, oil-cloth and linoleum. May be rubbed if desired.

Johnson's Sani-Spar Varnish Stain

Use Johnson's Sani-Spar Varnish Stain for refinishing in color where you do not care to go to the trouble or expense of removing the old finish. Apply it right over the old varnish—it gives wonderful results on furniture, floors, woodwork and all interior and exterior surfaces. Saves time, money, labor and material. Johnson's Sani-Spar Varnish Stain gives wonderful satisfaction on exterior work—it will not turn white. One coat of Johnson's Sani-Spar Varnish Stain gives you your color and a beautiful, glossy, durable finish. It dries hard overnight.

NEW BATH TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DEDICATED AND NOW BEING USED

With the ringing of the school bells Greene County last Monday, about 20 pupils of Bath Township registered at the new building at Fairfield. The new building, a handsome structure, which was dedicated Sunday, with approximate exercises.

Approximately 1500 people thronged the auditorium of the new consolidated building to witness the dedication exercises.

The dedication address was delivered by U. S. Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs, who told of the many contrasts between present day conditions and those which prevailed in his boyhood days.

A community chorus of about fifty voices and a forty piece band furnished music for the program. The Rev. Mr. Kimmel of Bath Church delivered the invocation and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Walter B. Leis, of Fairfield. The entire program was under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The new building, which is a beautiful structure modeled after the late Renaissance style of architecture, was erected at an approximate cost of $250,000. Work was begun in March 1923, and is practically completed now.

It is expected that over 700 pupils will attend the school at the close of the registration. The board of education is considering the purchase of four new busses making eight in all, to take care of the 330 pupils from the rural districts of Bath Township. Temporarily, the busses now in use are required to do double work.

OLD FOLKS MADE NEW

"It is now five months since I took a course of your medicine for gas and stomach trouble and I am feeling entirely well. My friends all tell me I am looking twenty years younger and I certainly feel as they say. I am recommending Mayr's Wonderful Remedy to all ailing with stomach and liver trouble." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Baby Tortured Day and Night by Eczema Resinol Stopped Itching and Healed Sick Skin

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 10:—"I thought it might interest you to know how much Resinol has done for my baby. Her face was covered with scabs and the itching was so severe I had to keep stockings on her hands to keep her from scratching. I had to be up at night as it bothered her so she could not sleep. Two doctors, one of them a skin specialist, told me she had eczema. I tried several remedies, but nothing helped, so when I read in the paper about Resinol, I thought I would give it a trial. I can't praise it enough, for it has done wonders for the baby's skin and she sleeps all through the night now. I would advise anyone with a similar case to try Resinol Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Rose Goersdorf, 27 Furman Avenue. All druggists sell Resinol Soap and Ointment.

and friends of Zion will be privileged to hear Dr. Becton's final sermons before leaving at both services Sunday, accompanied by members of the Gospel Party. Sunday will mark a special day at Zion. The Rev. D. M. Locust will be in charge during the absence of the pastor.

The Teen Age Girls' Society of Zion Baptist Church will meet at the residence of Miss Mary Della Smith on East Third Street on Tuesday afternoon immediately after school.

Her Great TEMPTATION

He told her that marriage was simply a form—that in the eyes of God they were man and wife as surely as though a dozen ceremonies had been spoken over them. And like thousands of other girls who listen with their hearts instead of their minds—she believed him.

Had she known the truth about life, what bitter anguish of soul she would have escaped! "His Great Temptation," which was also "her great temptation," is a powerful, heart-grIPPING narrative you won't soon forget. It is only one of the many remarkable features in October True Story, now on sale at all newsstands.

TEN COMMANDMENTS TO BE PRESENTED AT OPERA HOUSE HERE

"The Ten Commandments," Cecil B. DeMille's dramatic spectacle, a Paramount picture, which is presented by Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky, will appear at the Opera House here Tuesday, September 23, matinee and night, through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

The picture was shown last season only in New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and London and is making its first tour of the smaller cities. It will be presented here the same as in the larger cities. The organization carries its own orchestra, projectionists, mechanics and all necessary apparatus to insure perfect presentation. The full orchestral score, arranged by Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld, will be played by an orchestra of twenty men.

"The Ten Commandments" is a pictorial presentation of the exodus of the Children of Israel from the land of Egypt, passage through the divided waters of the Red Sea, and the receiving by Moses of the laws comprising the Decalogue. The second part of the picture brings forth a modern story in which is revealed the tremendous importance of the ancient laws in the social and business life of the present day.

The making of the picture which required the services of 2,500 people, was one of the greatest cinema achievements of the time and was DeMille's fiftieth picture. In this film he has not only accomplished the seemingly impossible in the magnificent scenes of Orient pagantry and the miraculous parting of the waters of the Red Sea, but he has also presented a modern melodramatic story in so accurate and intelligent a fashion that the pictorial episodes are as appealing to the emotions as life itself.

HOUSING COMPANY FOR RACES FORMED

Negotiations were completed Thursday for a permanent housing organization in Dayton when word was received from Columbus that incorporation rights had been granted to the Dayton Housing Association which was organized originally for renting rooms during the air races.

The air housing committee has received information that another alleged housing committee has been operating around Dayton and vicinity. On the heels of an announcement from Oliver Belden, secretary of the Greene County Auto Club, to the effect that no one other than housing committee executives of R. L. Bailey are authorized by the air race committee to list or make reservations for visitors to the International Air Races in October, comes a similar statement to that effect, issued by C. R. Paul, manager of the International Air Races.

Eczema

Oh! The joy of a peaceful, restful night. What a wonderful "up and going" feeling follows such a night of undisturbed slumber.

Oh! What tortures—what agony—what despair—goes with the nights where eczema and other skin diseases hold power and drive away rest and peaceful slumber. For under the cover of darkness like crafty beings of the underworld these eruptions work their most serious havoc.

S.S.S. is the established conqueror of these annoying skin diseases. S.S.S. drives these ever disturbing elements from your system—elements that carry in their wake—lack of energy—undermining health! You may try in vain to get rid of them by using salves, lotions, washes, all to no purpose. You can't do it that way—the seat of the trouble lies deeper—impure blood trying to throw off poisons through the tender skin.

S.S.S. purifies the blood. It aids Nature in creating new red-blood-cells by the million! Blood-cells that send new rich blood coursing through your system. Red blood that drives away eczema—drives away pimples, blackheads, boils and rheumatism, too. An increase in red-blood-cells means added strength, added vitality and renewed vigor. Because the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. Start taking S.S.S. today and watch it rout that annoying, skin destroying, health undermining army that holds your system in its grasp! Learn again what it means to enjoy peaceful, restful nights of slumber.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

The Luxury of Love

by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "Love or Fame?" ETC.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY HATWARD, a famous beauty, is in love with BRUCE GILLIAN, but during a misunderstanding with him has married

SIR NIGEL CAVENDISH, a visiting Englishman, whom she hardly knows, and who has been called home immediately after the ceremony by the death of his father. The trouble between Mary and Bruce has been caused by CAMILLA WAITE, to whom Mary is strangely indebted. Gillian meets Mary unexpectedly and learns of her marriage.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXI—A STOLEN DAY.

"O H. Mary, you belong to me," Bruce Gillian's words rang through Mary's head as she looked up at him.

VIOLET DARE

stamped as she was, by the great love that surged through them both, the desire for each other that dwarfed every other emotion by its own intensity.

"I know that, Bruce," she said softly. "I do belong to you."

"Yet you married Cavendish," he answered. "Oh, I realize, that you didn't want to do it, my dear; I know that you'd never have become his wife if you hadn't felt that it was the right thing to do. And yet, what are we to do? I can't go on through life without you, Mary; you're all that makes life worth while. As soon as I could I travel I came back here, meaning to look you up at once, but I found that I must go to Alaska at once, to protect my interests there. As O'Brien told you, I'm a poor man, but if when the thing I'm working on now goes through I'll be a rich one. I tried this morning to reach you, and couldn't, so I wrote you a note; I sent it to you at the Atwoods', so no doubt it will be forwarded to you later. In it I told you all the truth. Oh, Mary, must I give you up now?"

Her great eyes filled with tears. "I can ask Nigel to release me," she answered slowly. "Perhaps he'd be willing to do that. He's very proud, though, and of course the news of our marriage has attracted so much attention, caused so much comment—and Nigel is so much in the public eye just now, since his father's death—I don't know just what he'll do. But I'll ask him. He wanted me to join him in England as soon as I felt able to travel; I'll plan to go at once, and then—if only he is willing to release me—"

The thought was like strong wine. To be free, free to marry Bruce, and go with him to the ends of the earth—what more could she ask?

"Will he be likely to do that?" asked Bruce. "Is he the type of man who'd understand? No doubt he'll think me an awful cad for proposing to Camilla; he may think you'd be better off without me."

"I can make him see how that happened, I'm sure. But I don't know what he's likely to do. You met him so short a time before I became engaged to him; it was a case of love at first sight with him, he says; he had seen me several times before we met, and says he'd torn a picture of me out of one of the newspapers and carried it around with him for nearly a month."
